Make a plan – what is the strategy?

- ▶ How much income is required and when is it needed
 - Maximum income for life
 - Tax free cash and No income
 - Variable income amounts
- ▶ What type of income
 - Guaranteed for life
 - Potential for income growth
 - Fixed for a specific term
- ▶ What level of risk
 - No risk except risk that inflation will erode spending power
 - No risk at all
 - Prepared to take risk in return for potential for income growth
- ▶ How much flexibility & control
 - No flexibility – just maximum income
 - Income flexibility and investment choice
 - Choice of death benefits

Which type of annuity / drawdown?

The range of Retirement Product Options

Most people are familiar with annuity and drawdown options, but those products we call Investment Linked Annuities are less well known.

Prudential's Income Choice annuity is an Investment Linked Annuity with flexible options

Tactics – How to maximise income

- ▶ Arrange annuities at the optimum time
 - Monitor annuity trends and the outlook for bond yields
 - It is difficult to second guess annuity trends however it is generally better to purchase an annuity as soon as possible rather than deferring in hope that rates will increase
- ▶ Research the market
 - Always research the market for best terms
 - Where appropriate apply for enhanced annuities
- ▶ Consider alternatives to standard annuities
 - Investment-linked annuities – possible to have a higher starting income*
 - Fixed term annuities
 - Scheme pension
- ▶ Investment timing (drawdown)
 - In times of volatile markets it may be better to drip feed investments over several months

*Future income may be higher or lower depending on investment returns

Annuity trends

- ▶ Income from standard annuities has been falling
 - No sign of significant improvements - bond yields may increase but full benefit may not pass to annuitants
- ▶ UK equity markets volatile
 - Important that retired investors have appropriate investment strategy
- ▶ Post coding / lifestyle / enhanced annuities
 - Resulting in lower incomes for Middle Britain in good health

Income Choice Annuity - Examples

The key to understanding the Income Choice examples is to grasp the following terms:

Term	Description
Required Smooth Return (RSR)	The investment return required each year to maintain the initial (non-guaranteed) income selected by the policyholder throughout their remaining lifetime. The RSR is the rate of return used to calculate the level of starting income. The higher the RSR, the higher the starting income.
Declared Smoothed Return (DSR)	The declared smoothed return (DSR) is the actual bonus added to the annuity at the end of each year. If the DSR is higher than the RSR, the annuity income will increase, whereas if it is lower the annuity income will reduce.
Minimum Income Guarantee	There is a guaranteed income floor and the annuity cannot fall below this. The minimum income guarantee increases each year at 50% of any annuity increases

A worked example:

Income in year 1	£ 10,000	RSR = 3%
Income in year 2 – DSR = 5%	$£10,000 \times 1.05/1.03$	= £ 10,194

RSR for Income Choice falls as annuity rates fall

- ▶ As guaranteed annuity rates fall the RSR required to match a level annuity falls
- ▶ Currently a RSR of 4.69% is required to match level annuity
 - (Joint life 2/3rd spouse, £100,000 male 65, female 60, level payments)
- ▶ The matching RSR will be different for other ages and options
